Modalities of the Debate

The debate may adopt two different modalities: formal debate and informal consultations.

Article 46

Formal debate (Speakers' List)

It will be the means by which the Chair will guide the course of negotiations.

- a) The formal debate will follow a Speakers' List, which will be prepared by the Chair at the beginning of the debate. Delegations willing to be on the Speakers' List will request it by raising their placard when the Chair asks if there exist any Delegations wishing to be added to the list. Delegations that wish to be added later should send a written note to the Chair.
- b) The Speakers' List will follow a chronological order with a limited time to take the floor. This time may be modified by a procedural motion.

Article 47

Time limit on speeches

The Chair or any Delegation may propose the time to be allowed to the speakers, which may not exceed two minutes. In case there is no consensus, the Chair will recognize two Delegations that speak against and two Delegations that speak in favor of the suggested time. The decision shall be made by a simple majority of the Member States present and voting (See Article 87). Each speaker will have that time to explain their position on the topic that is being debated in the organ, commission, committee or organization and may agree to take one or two questions.

Article 48

Modify the time limit on speeches

Any Delegation may request to modify the time allotted for speeches. If the proposal is not accepted by consensus, the Chair will recognize two Delegations that speak against and two Delegations that speak in favor of the new proposal. The decision shall be taken by a simple majority of the Member States present and voting (See Article 87).

Article 49

Any Delegate may, with the permission of the Chair, after speaking:

Article 51

Extraordinary Session of Questions

If a Delegation wishes to clarify a doubt arising from a speech, it may propose to hold an Extraordinary Session of Questions to the speaker. These questions could be posed in addition to those from yielding the speech time.

Article 52

To carry out an Extraordinary Session of Questions, it is necessary for the following requirements to be upheld:

- a) Be proposed by a Delegation to the Chair.
- b) Be accepted by the Delegate speaking.
- c) Be seconded by at least another Delegation.
- d) Be submitted to a vote and be approved by a simple majority of the Member States present and voting (See Article 87).

Article 53

The session will consist of a maximum of two questions to the Delegate speaking. Delegates who ask a question will be able to ask a second follow-up question if they are not satisfied with the Delegate's response on the floor. The Chair will decide if it is relevant to give the floor to the Delegate.

Article 54

Closing of Speakers' List

The Chair or any Delegation may propose the closing of the Speakers' List on the subject under discussion. This motion requires the vote of the simple majority of the Member States present and voting to be approved (See Article 87).

Article 55

Procedural motions

Any Delegation may make use of the motions to request that a situation or proposal be considered during the development of the formal debate and must express the type of motion requested.

- b) Motion to adjourn the meeting;

- c) Motion to adjourn the debate (on the item under discussion);
- d) Motion to close the debate (on the item under discussion);

Article 58

The procedural motion will be governed by the following norms:

- a) The Chair may recommend the withdrawal of a motion if it considers that it will not contribute to the progress of the negotiations. However, it will be up to the Delegate who proposed it to decide whether it is withdrawn or presented to the floor.
- b) In case the Chair deems a motion pertinent, an endorsement will be required. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second it.
- c) The Chair will verify the existence of consensus asking if any Delegation opposes the motion.
- d) Depending on the type of motion, two Representatives may speak in favor of, and two against the motion.
- e) The Chair will call an informal vote by raising placards and will announce the type of majority (simple or two thirds) that is required to be approved.
- f) The majority of the procedural motions may not interrupt any Delegate or the Chair when they are speaking or in the course of a proceeding.

Article 59

Right of Reply

If the closing of the Speakers' List has been approved and a Delegation not in the list understands that it is necessary to respond to a statement made by another Delegation during its speech, it may request a Right of Reply. It must be requested in writing and it is recommended that it be exercised once all the Delegations in the list have spoken.

Article 60

Point of Order

The Point of Order is used to make the committee take notice, with due respect, of an error regarding the procedure made by the Chair or a Delegation. Under a point of order, a Representative may request the Chair to apply an article of the Rules of Procedure or challenge the manner in which the Chairperson applies said article.

Article 61

A Delegation may rise to a Point of Order at any time during the formal debate but may not refer to the substance (substance of the matter) on the subject under discussion.

Article 62

Appeal the Chair's decision on a Point of Order

The decision of the Chair on the Point of Order shall be maintained unless appealed by a Delegation. Any appeal to the Chair's decision must be immediately put to the vote. If the majority of the Delegations present and voting support the appeal, the decision of the Chair will be revoked. The votes of the Delegations that abstain will not be taken into account to calculate the necessary simple majority and will be considered "not voting" (See Article 87).

Article 63

Point of Personal Privilege

The Point of Personal Privilege will be used when a Delegate is considered affected or diminished by a matter external to the content of the debate. These situations include not being able to listen properly to the interventions of the other Delegations.

Article 64

The Point of Personal Privilege cannot be denied without first having listened to the request.

Article 65

This Point may interrupt both the Delegates and the Chair when they are speaking or during a proceeding.

Article 66

Point of Parliamentary Inquiry

The Point of Parliamentary Inquiry consists of a request for clarification of the current proceeding during the formal debate.

Article 67

The Point of Parliamentary Inquiry may not interrupt any Delegate when they are in use of the floor.

Article 68

Informal Consultations

The Informal Consultations may be used to expedite the negotiations or to propose an adjustment in the dynamics of the debate. They can also be called Caucus, according to the criteria of the Chair.

Article 69

There are two types of Informal Consultations: Moderated and Regular.

Article 70

Suspend the meeting in Moderated Informal Consultations (Moderated Caucus)

During the discussion of any matter, a Delegation may propose the suspension of the meeting to move to Moderated Informal Consultations (Moderated Caucus) on the matter under discussion. The Delegation that proposes it must specify its duration, which may not exceed ten minutes, as well as the time of intervention for each speaker, which must not exceed one minute. Such motion must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second it. The support of the majority of the Member States present and voting will be required to approve it (See Article 87). If the Motion is approved, the Speaker's List will be temporarily suspended. The Presidency will give the floor to the Delegates who request so by raising their placard.

Article 71

At the end of the time established for Moderated Informal Consultations (Moderated Caucus), these may be extended by means of a procedural motion.

Article 72

Suspend the meeting in Regular Informal Consultations (Regular Caucus)

During the discussion of any matter, a Delegation may propose the suspension of the meeting in Regular Informal Consultations (Regular Caucus), specifying a time for its restart. They are used for the purpose of meeting informally to advance negotiations. Once approved, the Delegates can establish direct and informal communication among them. The Delegates may not leave the room during the Regular Informal Consultations, unless previously authorized by the Chair. Motions of this type must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second; the support of the majority of the Member States present and voting is necessary to approve it (See Article 87).

Article 73

Once the time established for the Regular Informal Consultations (Regular Caucus) has ended, it can be extended by means of a procedural motion.

Article 74

Adjourn the meeting

During the discussion of any matter, a Representative may propose a motion to adjourn the meeting and take a recess. Motions of this type must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second, the support of the majority of the Member States present and voting will be required to approve it (See Article 87). After the break, the Delegates must continue with the next working meeting according to the MUN Program. At the end of the day, the meeting must be postponed until the first of the following day. Adjourning the last working meeting implies the debate will be resumed in the next annual edition of the MUN.

Article 75

Adjourn the debate

A Representative may, at any time, propose a motion to adjourn the debate with the intention of suspending the discussion on the topic that is being debated and postponing it with the option that it may be resumed in the future. Said motion must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second it. It must be debated by two (2) Representatives who are in favor and by two (2) who are against. The support of the majority of the Member States present and voting will be required to approve it (See Article 87). If a motion to adjourn the debate passes, the topic under discussion will be considered postponed and no action will be taken in this regard. This proceeding is known as the "no-action motion" because it blocks the work on a Draft Resolution and/or a vote on it.

Article 76

Draft Resolutions and Amendments

The Draft Resolution and the Substantial Amendments must be submitted in writing to the respective Bureau (Dais), with the names of the Member States who sponsor the document. The sponsoring Delegations are the authors of the proposal and the co-sponsors are the Delegations willing to debate it. Draft Resolutions and Amendments may be withdrawn by those who suggested them before voting on them has commenced.

Article 77

Amendments

An Amendment is a proposal to make a change, add or delete a part of another proposal.

Article 78

Submit a Draft Resolution or Amendment to the Forum

Once the Draft Resolutions Approval Board has validated a Draft Resolution or Amendment, the Chair will authorize its circulation among all the Delegations. One of the sponsoring Delegations may request a motion to present the Draft Resolution or Amendment to the forum. As a general rule, no Draft Resolution shall be put to the vote unless the copies thereof have been provided to all the Delegations present or that have the technological facilities that allow its projection on a screen. The Chair may, however, allow the discussion and consideration of the Amendments, even when these have not been distributed.

Article 79

If the sponsors of the Draft Resolution accept the adoption of the proposed Amendment, the Draft Resolution shall be modified accordingly and the voting on said proposal shall not be necessary. A document modified in this manner shall be considered as the Draft Resolution for all purposes, including subsequent Amendments.

Article 80

Close the debate

A Representative may, at any time, propose the conclusion of the debate on the topic under discussion, despite the fact that some other Representative has expressed their desire to continue the debate. The motion to close the debate must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second it. It will be debated only by two (2) Representatives who oppose it and must be put to an immediate vote. The closure of the debate will require a majority of two thirds (2/3) of the Member States present and voting to be approved (See Article 87). If the closing of the debate is accepted, it will be necessary to immediately move to vote on the Draft Resolutions on the floor with respect to the topic under discussion, in the order in which they were submitted to the Bureau (Dais).

Article 81

Division of Draft Resolutions and Amendments

Immediately before a Draft Resolution or Amendment is put to the vote, a Representative may propose that parts of the Draft Resolution or of an Amendment should be voted on separately. If there are several requests to divide the question, they must be voted in the order established by the Chair, considering that the most radical division must be voted on first.

Article 82

If there is any objection to the motion to divide the question, the request for division must be put to the vote, requiring the vote of the majority of those present and voting to be accepted (See Article 87). The motion to divide the question must have at least one endorsement. The Delegation that requested the motion may not second, it will be debated by two (2) Representatives in favor and by two (2) against it. If the motion is accepted, those parts of the Draft Resolution or Amendment that are involved must be put to the vote. If all operative clauses of the Draft Resolution or of the Amendment have been rejected, the document should be considered as rejected in its entirety.

Article 83

Reconsideration of proposals

When a Draft Resolution or Amendment has been adopted or rejected, it cannot be reviewed again in the same session, unless a two-thirds majority (2/3) of the Representatives present and voting, so decides (See Article 87). The Chair will verify if any other Delegation supports the proposal and if there is consensus on it. If this is not the case, permission to speak on a motion to reconsider shall be accorded only to two (2) Representatives who oppose said motion, after which it shall be immediately put to the vote.

Article 84

Withdrawal of motions

A motion may be withdrawn by those who suggested it at any time before voting on it has commenced. A withdrawn motion may be reintroduced by any Representative.

IX. VOTING

Article 85

Voting rights

Each Member State in the respective organ, commission, committee or organization simulated in the MUN shall have one vote.

Article 86

Method of voting

Customarily, all matters will be voted upon by placards, but any Delegation may request a roll call vote (See Article 58). The Chair shall move automatically to the vote by roll call following the English alphabetical order of the names of the Member States, beginning with the Delegation whose name is drawn at random by the General Committee at the opening ceremony of the MUN session. In the roll call votes, the name of each Member State must be mentioned by list order and one of its Representatives must respond "in favor", "against", or "abstention".

Article 87

Meaning of the phrase "Member States present and voting"

For the purposes of these Rules of Procedure, it shall be understood that the phrase "Member States present and voting" refers to the Member States casting an affirmative or negative vote. Member States which abstain from voting shall be considered as "not voting".

Article 88

Two-thirds majority
